WHAT ADVICE WOULD YOU GIVE?

1. YOUR TEACHER WILL ASSIGN YOU A DILEMMA FROM THE AVAILABLE SELECTIONS BELOW. READ YOUR DILEMMA CAREFULLY AND ANSWER THE QUESTIONS ON PAGE 4

Joe is at the top of his high school class. He is asked by his best friend to watch for signals from him during an exam because he might need some “help” with some of the harder questions. This is the first time this request has been made, and Joe knows how badly his best friend hopes to be accepted, early decision, to Yale.

Mitch is the president of student government and is ambitious to implement new policies that will allow seniors some more freedom and independence from the faculty. At the same time, he knows how much time this will take and is concerned about the consequences it may have for his academic record. He wonders whether his grades—and the chances of getting into his first-choice university—will survive this extracurricular commitment.

Dmitri is a member of his school swim team and devotes nearly every morning and afternoon to team practice. The work has paid off. A week before the regional meet, he has shaved fifteen seconds off his butterfly stroke, and he and his relay partners are the best the team has seen in years. Yet the long practices have required lots of energy, and Dmitri has been falling asleep in class and not been able to finish his homework before he falls asleep at 7:30 p.m. Concerned about his health and his grades, Dmitri’s parents tell him they want him to cut back on practice so he can sleep more and feel better.

Heidi is the president of the local chapter of her youth group. It requires a lot of time to work with her chapter board in planning events and community-service projects, as well as publicizing activities, but she is very satisfied with the work she does and the leadership roles she takes. She and the other members of her board are respected not only by other members of the organization, but also by leaders and members of the community.

One of the rules for the leaders in her organization is that board members cannot drink alcohol, since underage drinking is illegal and because the leaders in the organization are supposed to be role models for their fellow members. Board members who break this rule are supposed to be reported to the adult advisor and dismissed from their positions. At a party this past weekend, Heidi saw Evan, a member of the chapter board, drinking a couple of beers. She is faced with a serious dilemma. On one hand, members of the organization, especially those in the younger grades, look up to board members and sometimes model their behavior. At the same time, Heidi knows that only a few people saw Evan drink and not many others would find out. What should Heidi do?

Thanh volunteers at a health clinic a few blocks away from her home. A high school student who excels in science, she hopes to become a physician someday. Her pet, a lovable pug named Squat, has just contracted a stomach bacteria that requires expensive medication. One day, as she is cleaning up a stock room, Thanh notices a box of the medication at a dosage for humans.

As a member of the student-council election committee, Ravi helps with setting out voting booths, publicizing the event, and collecting ballots. He is also in charge of counting the ballots. Jake, one of Ravi's close friends, is running for a position on the council and is worried about winning, so he asks Ravi if he could double count some votes in favor of him, so that it appears as though he has enough votes to win. Ravi is committed to making sure elections are fair, but he also thinks that Jake would make a great student council representative.

Sean saw his good friend Tommy sitting in the library with two notebooks in front of him, transferring notes from one to the other a couple of days before their mid-year exam. When Sean came over to find out what Tommy was doing, Tommy mentioned that he was borrowing the notebook from Denise, a girl in their class. Yet earlier that morning, Sean had heard Denise tearfully telling their teacher that someone had stolen her notebook, which contained both the notes on class lectures and on her big research project, due next week. The teacher, thinking Denise was trying to buy time for the exam and the project, didn't believe her.

Kim works as news editor for her high school newspaper. Recently, she has been working on a story with her friend, Leah, about how low-grade meat may have been used in the school cafeteria. They researched their topic extensively, meeting with school and town health officials, and spent a great deal of time learning about the corporation that raises and supplies the meat to the school. However, they lack empirical evidence to support their claims, and despite numerous claims filed against the company by other school districts for providing low-grade meat, she cannot prove that a similar situation is occurring at her school. Leah feels they have put a lot of effort into the story and wants to publish it.

Ahmed is a high school junior and the assistant manager at the town pizza shop. He has a significant amount of responsibility at the store, and the owner trusts him to carry out many tasks and supervise other employees. The owner is very concerned about the financial health of the shop, and feels that while they should not cut corners with regards to the quality of the food, they must also make an effort not to be wasteful. One afternoon, Ahmed saw the owner yell at an employee for letting a child buy a piece of pizza for 25¢ less than the cost. One afternoon, a man whom Ahmed recognized as homeless walked into the store and, explaining that he hadn't eaten in two days, asked if Ahmed would be kind enough to give him a slice.

WHAT ADVICE WOULD YOU GIVE?

5. IF TIME ALLOWS, YOUR TEACHER WILL SHUFFLE THE PAIRS, AND YOU WILL REPEAT THE PROCESS ABOVE.

6. COME BACK TOGETHER AS A CLASS TO DISCUSS THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS:

- What advice did you receive?
- Did you receive the same advice both times?
- Is it the advice they might have given, were the roles reversed?
