STORY OF A GOOD WORKER

PART I

YOU ARE GOING TO BE ASKED TO CREATE TWO STORIES: 1 ABOUT A "GOOD WORKER" AND 1 ABOUT A PERSON WHO DOES JUST "WORK."

One story should represent a person who is doing "good work." The second story should be about a person who is just doing "work." Remember, a person who does just "work" is missing one or more of the 3Es of excellence, engagement, and/or ethics. The stories can be about real or fictional people.

Choose one of the following options to represent your stories. In your representation you should clearly explain why your story represents "good work" or "work."

- Write a paragraph about each story
- Create a comic of each story
- Draw a picture of each story
- Create a video telling each story

PART II

SWAP YOUR STORIES WITH ANOTHER STUDENT GROUP IN ORDER TO RECEIVE FEEDBACK.

You should read over the stories you've been given and discuss what you notice about "work" and "good work."

You can discuss the three following questions in regard to the stories you've been given:

- "I wish..." e.g. I wish they had spent a little more time focusing on the engagement element of good work in your story on good work
- "I wonder..." e.g. I wonder if their "work" character is actually showing some good work because they are engaged in their work
- "What if..." e.g. What if their character is only doing excellent work because of a grade, is that still good work?

Write your feedback on the following page. You should then return the stories to the original creators with this feedback page.
